commencement
may 12, 1974

Commencement is usually thought of as the last ceremony in a student's academic career. For the four graduating seniors this year the ceremony was one of challenge and just the beginning of a new career for Christ. President Bourne of St. Louis Christian College delivered the address that set a new challenge for the faculty, staff, undergraduates and friends of the college as well as those who were granted their degrees.

Formal Dedication services for the B. D. Phillips Memorial Library were held October 15, 1973. Mildred Welshimer Phillips (Mrs. B. D. Phillips) was the honored guest and dedication speaker.

Acquisition of the facility was made possible by a grant in February, 1972, from the B. D. Phillips Charitable Trust of Butler, Pennsylvania.

President W. F. Lown presided in the dedicatory act, and the Celebration Singers sang "For all the Saints" during the service.

In Mrs. Phillips address she stated, "I know that he (Mr. Phillips) would be pleased to know today that we have helped in getting this beautiful building." She also stated that she knew that MCC was a school that is producing preachers.

Past experience, get-up-and-go, and a lot of skill, proved to be the backbone of a very successful soccer season for the MCC Crusaders. With a 7-2 record, this years team had the winingest season MCC has seen. Besides playing their regular schedule, they had a chance to show their toughness against a good and experienced International team from KSU. They lost this game 4-6, but put up a good fight. Even in the rain and cold weather, the guys had good crowds to back them up. It was great to see support from students and staff alike.

"The Terrible Meek" was presented to several of the area churches during the year. It is the story of a Captain in the Roman army who meets the mother of a political prisoner (Jesus of Nazareth) that he has just crucified. In the end the Roman Captain comes to realize that it will not be powerful armies nor strong rulers who overthrow the empire, but it will be the "terrible meek", those followers of Jesus. The Captain was played by Bob Day. Dena Thomas portrayed the Mother, and Mike Mullenix played the Soldier.

missions emphasis week

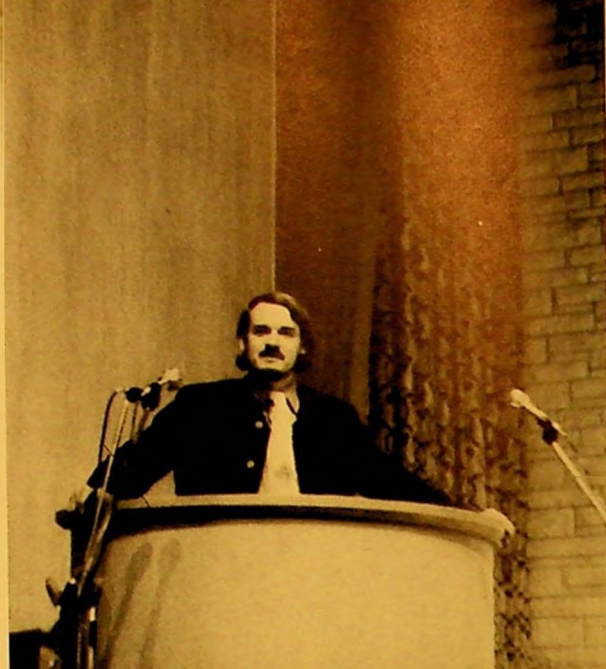

Mission Emphasis Week, October 9-11, 1973 was sponsored by Alpha Beta Chi, the campus missions organization. Gene Dulin of Toronto Christian Mission, Ron Hoffman from the Philippines and George Beckman from Japan were the featured speakers. Each of the men led special workshop sessions each day and preached in chapel around the central theme of "That You May Know."

Paul Stetler, a senior from Manhattan, Kansas, was the Student Director for the group.

Celebration Singers traveled and sang extensively this year. Under the direction of Miss Lillie Britton, Associate Professor of Music and Paul Stetler, Student Director, Celebration Singers held weekend concerts in Kansas and Colorado; traveled during Spring Break to Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, and Kansas, and sang at many school functions, including MCC Day, the Benefit Dinner, the Preaching Convention, Parents Day, and held their own Christmas Concert. Celebration Singers worked hard to share their faith through music and spread God's love wherever they went.

serving the elderly

home*

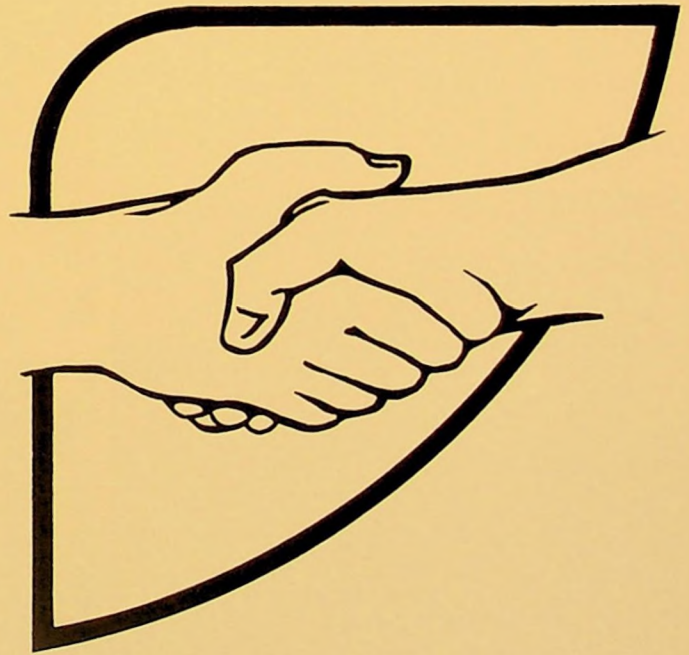

Each Friday night a group of MCC students go out to the Rebekah Oddfellows Home, worship with them and share their faith in Christ with the elderly residents. The students take turns preaching, leading singing, and having special music (always accompanied by a violin). These are precious visits to the students because Christ is their master and their love for him overflows to those who have not yet heard of him as some of these folks have not. Their hearts go out to the elderly and when it is time to go, the parting is sometimes painful.

Welcome to our home!

One of the main activities of 1973 was when MCC teachers and staff opened their homes, hearts, and kitchens to the students. There were three opportunities to go to open house, and the faculty and staff members all helped to make these occasions memorable.

Yummy, yummy in my tummy.

"Marriage Wheel", a comedy written by Joel Climenhaga, delighted audiences on three different occasions this spring. The wheel of life rolled from games of "Cat and mouse" to "fisticuffs" and finally ground to a halt with love, marriage and church rites. Even then there were a few complications, but they all lived happily ever after and the wheel of life rolled on.

Waltheim was the place and the resident males of Manhattan Christian College were the people. Mr. and Mrs. Allison took charge of both. The Allisons' expanded family took up much of their time; including such important activities as Dorm Council, waterfights, Christmas Caroling, and generally keeping the men intact throughout the school year. Perhaps the most enjoyed of all the Allisons' ideas was the monthly birthday parties. The parties were held for all the men whose birthdays fell during the particular month. Evident in these camera shots is the result of Mrs. Allison's renowned cake cookery.

The entire student body, faculty and staff at MCC are covered by a group blood entitlement plan by which any of those covered or their immediate family, will receive blood free in case of emergency. The college participates in three blood drives during the year, and in order to fill the quota, there is a need for forty persons to donate their blood.

mcc day 1973

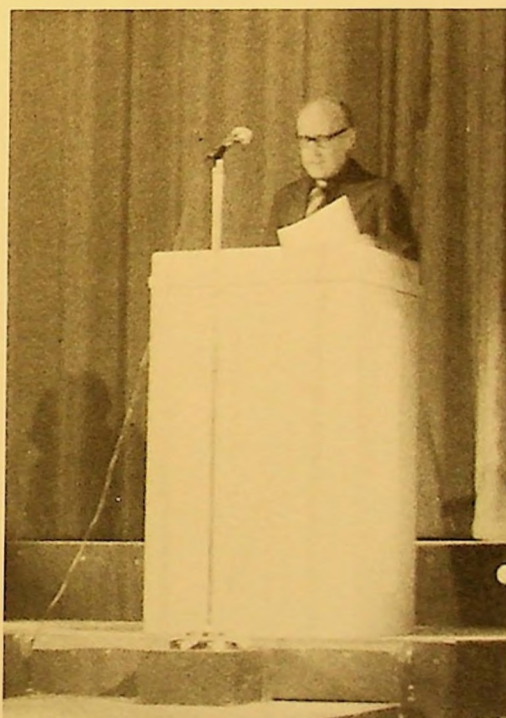

MCC Day was held on November 14, 1973, with a record crowd in attendance. Mr. Bob Alexander, a minister from Thousand Oaks, California; Dr. Robert Linder, a History professor from K-State; and Judge Jerry Mershon, a Manhattan Probate Judge, were the main speakers on the theme "God Can Use Someone Like You". Shirley Rose was the Chairman of MCC Day, and Rusty Andrews was the Master of Ceremonies. "Waiting for the New World" was the play presented by the Theater Department.

*“God can

Students and faculty and staff all participated in the events of the day. Several people presented special messages in music. The Celebration Singers and The New Creations presented their concerts. At the end of the day everyone was convinced that "God Can Use Someone Like You".

The Women's Dorm sponsored a Campus Carnival to raise money for the Alpha Christian Children's Home in Perry, Kansas. Many campus clubs and organizations sponsored a variety of booths to test strength and speed and accuracy. Featured at the side shows were Kent Pratt, was especially proficient at juggling anything round, Frank Smith, who was sidesplittingly funny as the campus strong man, and Gregg Ketchum who astounded the audience with his gymnastic and tumbling ability. Big, bad Sheriff Bob Day arrested people (innocent people?) upon request.

Parents Day is the time when parents come to campus and see what college is really like, and meet the professors we have told them about. Special activities such as a play, an ice cream social, a chapel service, a banquet and special displays set up by the professors were highlights of the event this year.

The Student Council is a governing body made up of selected representatives from the Student Body Association. The twenty-three representatives were selected from the classes, the dorms and various campus organizations.

Student Council funds helped to sponsor various activities including Missions Emphasis Week, the Campus Revival, MCC Day, Parents Day, Skip Day, the Winter Banquet, the Spring Banquet, and three Red Cross Blood Drivers.

The Student Council did some preliminary work on a revision of the Constitution and By Laws and participated in such special events as the annual Benefit Dinner and the Library Dedication.

Each year several high school students visit MCC to sample college life and ask questions about the school. There were three special weekends one in January, one in March and one in April. The seniors arrived on Thursday and left on Saturday, hopefully to return in the fall.
